CANADA CANNOT BE COWARDLY

When the Fordney tariff bill was first discussed at Washington, few Americans thought the bill would pass. It was thought that Canada's last customer, who was then buying something $400,000,000.00 worth of American goods, would not permit the tariff to be unjust, and that there would be a veto protest from Canada that would stop the bill.

Canada had a right to resent and resist the tariff which the Fordney bill would have imposed. But the tariff was not a tariff on Canadian goods. It was a tariff on American goods. It was a tariff on the goods of the United States. It was a tariff on the goods of the United States. It was a tariff on the goods of the United States.

The day that the Fordney tariff was first passed in the United States, the tariff was not a tariff on Canadian goods. It was a tariff on American goods. It was a tariff on the goods of the United States. It was a tariff on the goods of the United States. It was a tariff on the goods of the United States.

"I am perfectly sure that the old country does not want what is before their eyes. They want what is before their eyes. They want what is before their eyes. They want what is before their eyes. They want what is before their eyes."

Most of the members were not friendly enough to stand a Canadian winter, he said. He said that the members were not friendly enough to stand a Canadian winter, he said. He said that the members were not friendly enough to stand a Canadian winter, he said.

MEASLES
Measles is a child killer. This disease which so many regard as so unimportant and which is thought of as a necessary evil, accompanied by certain inconveniences, is, in fact, the most fatal of all diseases.

In 1926, there occurred in Canada 935 deaths from measles, of which 264 were children under one year of age. Most deaths from measles occur during the first year of life.

Measles is a communicable disease. It is passed from the sick to the well. It is very easily spread and practically all who are exposed contract the disease, unless they have been protected by a previous attack.

Measles is not a serious illness. It is a disease which is easily cured. It is a disease which is easily cured. It is a disease which is easily cured. It is a disease which is easily cured. It is a disease which is easily cured.

Concerning the control of measles it must be remembered that measles is most contagious during the days before the rash appears. For this reason, it is advised that every child with a cold in the head be kept away from other children, not only to prevent the spread of colds, but because the cold may be the first stage, the most contagious, of life.

ONE of the most spectacular achievements in automotive history is the manner in which today's "Bigger and Better" Chevrolet is increasing its margin of leadership at the world's largest bazaar of automobiles.

Know Chevrolet Performance! Chevrolet cars are steeped, the fame of the Chevrolet motor is greatest--because it is built on the value-in-hand principle, which provides all the power advantages of increased displacement.

Chevrolet's delightful smoothness is achieved by the use of four-valve piston and valves, and by Chevrolet flashers out and away when you open the throttle because it offers the advantages of light four-valve pistons, large valves, and carburetor equipped with an acceleration pump.

Cancel Cheap Rates To Stem Flow Of Harvesters To West

Montreal.—Harvesters recruited previously arranged to follow as the usual source of the present crop have been cancelled by both the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific, according to a statement issued by traffic officers at these transportation agencies.

This action follows a conference at Winnipeg which was attended by representatives of the Canadian National, the Canadian Pacific, and the government officials of the government employment service. Instructions have been issued to all agents throughout British Columbia, including Ontario, Quebec, and the Maritimes, to stop the sale of tickets.

It is stated that the total number of harvesters carried from Eastern Canada and British and already arriving at the harvest fields in the west was estimated at 40,000, while British Columbia to date has sent 1,200 more than originally anticipated.
